

Chapter 7

The Foundation and Future

Strong Foundation

Young people need to start taking responsibility for their growth and mistakes in life. We have been taught and have mastered the blame game, which has become the bases of our lives. We blame our parents for not being successful, for being thieves, for not finishing school and not being useful to the country or our communities. This blame game has moved from the family to the government. The family is the problem of the country. Every country is made up of families and if the family does not get it right, the country will suffer.

Families usually fail to take responsibility for their mistakes and try to push it to other people, try to push it to the school, church etc. We are building up children with no responsibility, children that cannot take up a task and take the blame for their mistakes. The nation has failed because the family has failed.

One country fights one another because it started from the family, one tribe hates the other because the family natured the children that way. Most parents cannot give correction to their children anymore, because the children have seen it all from them, there is no more honor.

People don't want to work, but they want progress. They seek for money, but they can not engage their brain into work. No creativity, because the government has made them lazy and they end up building people that do not have the leading character in them; people that do not know what it takes to invest and take risks for progress. We have leaders without vision, because they have no vision for their life or for their family.

Marriage Foundation

The number of broken homes is moving up, because of the family foundation. The father was not there to teach the son what it means to be a father and the son picked bad lessons from other people. The mother did not teach the daughter what it means to be a wife. The children had no foundation of what marriage is all about. The fathers are either so much committed to their jobs that they do not have time for the children or the mothers are so busy attending to their jobs, friends, parties and events; leaving the children to be trained by the housemaids. These children grow up not understanding their role in the home.

These are the same people that will be the leaders of the nation; people with no foundation, no responsibility, no vision and no fight to achieve their vision. It is time to start giving responsibility to our children and start taking responsibility for our mistakes and fix them and not blaming others.

Foundation for Greatness

Greatness starts with a strong foundation, commitment, and taking responsibility for mistakes and utilizing every little opportunity to correct the past mistakes.

Most children fail today, because the family did not equip them, there was none or little responsibility that was given to them.

When I state equip, am not talking about money, houses or business for them. I'm talking about a strong foundation, it does not matter where you come from, from a poor home or rich home. What matters is your foundation. Dear reader, if you are a parent and you are poor, please impact a success-oriented mindset into your children's mind and spirit. Take them out, show them good building, speak to them of greatness, do not limit their mind. Let them know that they are able; they can build those houses, even if you could not do that.

Parents should start feeding their children with spiritual food. Build a strong foundation for them. Lay hands on your children and pray for them. Prophecy into their future and life.
